November Report

As mentioned in the weekly report, finally some stability in the wool market has appeared. To see some steady improvement over the month is pleasing and allowing the process marketing wool a little easier. Unfortunately, more than ever before quantities are the key component of the market, with China still the most dominant source. Some positive news this week looking towards the future in both the short and long term is some wool is being traded with other regions. Confidence in the wool market will flow and hopefully the new year will bring more joy. Crossbreds traditionally appear in large numbers from this moment till late February and as listed below on their individual Indicators prices aren't pretty. The Carding market has been erratic of recent weeks, but with the Indicator made up of such small components sometimes it doesn't reflect market sentiment for specific types. Currently combing Merino lambs carrying a 0.1 vm content are being keenly sought. With two-day sales remaining until the Christmas recess in 3 weeks, other opportunities to market wool on wool trade remain a viability particularly over the break.
